Re: Richard Chichakli

Dear Mr. Scott,

The Government proposes to interview Mr. Chichakli beginning on or about December 8, 2008 in the U.S. embassy in Moscow concerning his full knowledge of his activities and that of other persons, which may or may not be criminal in nature. In exchange for truthful and complete information this office is extending "use"immunity as described below.

It is agreed that no statements made by Mr. Chichakli during this meeting will be used against him in any criminal proceeding except that such statements may be used for impeachment purposes in the event he testifies in a legal proceeding and such testimony is inconsistent with statements made in the interview. The government may make derivative use of any information provided, that is, it may pursue any investigative lead suggested by any statement or other information he provides.

Mr. Chichakli's complete truthfulness and candor are express material conditions to this agreement and the undertakings of the government set forth in this letter. Therefore, if the government should ever conclude that Mr. Chichakli knowingly withheld material information from the government or otherwise has not been completely truthful and candid, this agreement shall be rendered null and void and the government may use against you for any purpose (including sentencing) any statements made or other information provided by you during the interview.

Other than those expressly set forth in this agreement, no understandings, promises, agreements and/or conditions have been entered into with respect to any potential charges against Mr. Chichakli.

Sincerely,

RICHARD B. ROPER
United States Attorney
